

Garden Share

Space galore in Dorchester

Located between Thomas Hardy School and the Hospital, this plot offers huge potential to a keen and committed gardener. The site has water available and storage for tools, and could suit someone wishing to share a plot or with the time available to take on a larger project. The owner, who can no longer manage the garden, is keen to see someone make use of the site. The area is currently laid to lawn.

Potential gardeners should note that there is currently some building work underway near the house with hazards on site which may not be suitable for someone wishing to garden with small children.

Get involved - if you want the chance to - get outside, grow some tasty veggies, get your hands dirty, and vastly reduce the food miles involved in your food...
